

JET ENGINEERING ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Jet Engineering is committed to minimising the impact that we have on the environment, both directly and indirectly.

Jet Engineering will conduct our business in a way that:

- Minimises water usage
- Minimises our contribution to carbon emissions
- Minimises our usage of non-renewable resources
- Minimises the impact that we have on our neighbours through noise and dust emissions.

Jet Engineering's goal is to ensure that our business activities are able to be carried out in a way that is environmentally sustainable.

Management will meet these requirements by:

- Purchasing energy efficient plant and equipment.
- Ensuring that plant and equipment is well maintained, in order to ensure maximum service life is achieved.
- Using recycled materials where this is an option, and ensuring that all waste output from the business is recycled where facilities are available.
- Ensuring that sustainability is held as a key value of our organisation.

Each employee has the responsibility to:

- Ensure that all forms of waste are minimised.
- Ensuring that recyclable materials are not disposed of as general waste.
- Ensuring that electricity usage is minimised by turning off lights, air conditioners, air compressors, etc when they do not need to be running.
- Ensuring that taps are turned off properly, and that water is used efficiently when required as part of a job.
- Consider protection of the environment as a priority in going about their daily duties.
- Encourage other workers to employ the above practices.
- Report or rectify any environmental risks that they become aware of.

This policy is an integral part of our total management plan. Our goal is to ensure that our business is environmentally sustainable. This can only be achieved through consultation with and cooperation by all.

Environmental sustainability – creating a better world for future generations.

A blue ink signature of Shayne Ritchings, consisting of a stylized 'S' followed by a long horizontal line.

Shayne Ritchings
Business Manager

A blue ink signature of Tony Hutchinson, featuring a stylized 'H' and 'T'.

Tony Hutchinson
Operations Manager